

ABSTRACT

The invention provides a process for preparing heparin products with a reduced content of glycoserine. A method for detecting glycoserine in preparations of heparin is also provided.